Film Tech, LLC Achieves AIB Rating Reinforcing Quality Leadership

Stanley, WI, September 25th, 2007 – Achieving an AIB International rating of “Excellent”, Film Tech, LLC continues to support nearly 30 years of quality leadership in the manufacture of custom blown films.

Touting quality and delivering quality consistently are very different. Delivering is what the Film Tech team prides itself on. Being a custom monolayer film manufacturer, each roll of film is designed to fit the end use process needs. AIB International conducts detailed audits to validate whether or not production conditions, processes, and controls are in place to manufacture products that may end up in food contact applications.

“We develop custom film solutions in the color, size and quantity needed, often in a matter of weeks, which is the primary reason we are depended upon for new market offerings throughout the world”, according to Tim Runge, General Manager. “The AIB rating validates our team’s efforts to continue being a dependable partner in the ever-changing global marketplace”.

With most of the film end uses being mission critical, such as food packaging, medical device and medical disposable applications, extremely high quality standards are a must and delivering consistent film products on time is paramount.
